

Marco Villarreal
Total points 100

20 - This weeks topic was very important for teamwork because it showed us first hand the importance of effective communication within a chain of command system. Communication is extremely important for any form of teamwork to be effective because its the method information is transferred from person to person and without it, teamwork would be an impossibility.

20 - I play on contributing as much as I can towards my team when we start doing our tasks. I think that helping others with their tasks is as important as completing your own at time and I plan on helping others understand and complete their tasks when I can to help the team move forward as a whole.

5 - I would like to know more about the concept of chain of command and how that relates to most real world workspaces.

5 - This weeks topic is important because effectively communicating is the basis of any coding project amongst a team.

10 - I am setting a SMART goal to spend at least 15 minutes preparing before each technical teamwork class

10 - I explained this topic to somebody not in class and I learned from him that in his field, communication is just as essential.

10 - I would prepare differently next week. I didn't prepare for the class this week and it made me feel insecure in the class so next week i want to take the time to prepare for class.

20 - This experience related to my experience as a scout troop leader going through Philmont. Things were impossibly disorganized at times and the leaders had to communicate through me to get things done effectively through delegation and teamwork. When people believed in the chain of command teamwork was done effectively but when it was questioned not much happened.

I earned 100 points because i accurately and completely answered 100 points worth of questions in this paper according to the rubric.